Ancell Commons Opportunities

Introducing our new program: JLA Mornings!

Want to improve your academic outcome? We have two excellent JLA Peer Educators available this semester – Tashai and Allison. Tashai works during our busier times so we recommend that students make an appointment to work with her. Allison works during a traditionally quiet time and so we are introducing the programs below.

We are not just a remedial resource. We help good students become better. New Drop-In Opportunities to Excel in JLA:

- Study Tables: Come in and study in the Commons on Tuesdays (9 am to 12:30 pm) and Thursdays (9 am to 11 am). If you have questions, just let Allison know and she will be happy to guide you.
- Search Strategies and JLA Research: Need help with search strategies and research? How do you know which sources to trust and what to pull from each source? Allison can show you how to search and research more effectively, how to determine whether a source is reliable and what information might best help you make your point, and she can work with you to review the sources you have chosen for reliability.
- Case Brief Review: Allison will work with you to make sure your case brief meets professor requirements. Bring the requirements with you!
- There's an App for that! Drop in to talk to Allison about tools/apps you can use to excel in your JLA courses.

Gab & GROW – is a new podcast that's your location for learning about the people, places, and resources available at WCSU to help you be a successful student.
