

Dana M. Bossio, M.A., 6th Year Certification

Regional Trauma Coordinator / School Psychologist Cooperative Educational Services (CES)

ABOUT

Dana M. Bossio earned her Master's degree and Sixth Year Certificate in School Psychology from the University of Connecticut, and is a certified school psychologist and Regional Trauma Coordinator for Cooperative Educational Services (CES). Prior to joining CES in 2021, Dana worked for the Fairfield Public Schools as a school psychologist for 10 years before transitioning to the role of Teacher Leader for School Psychology and Social Work in 2017. She has extensive experience supporting students, staff and families by providing consultation and support in many priority areas (training coordination/development, comprehensive and equity-focused assessment, dyslexia, autism, social-emotional learning, resilience/wellness practices, etc.).

An advocate for school-based trauma-informed practice and suicide prevention/postvention, Dana has worked collaboratively to develop and implement system-wide initiatives focused on student wellness, including universal screening and MTSS. Dana serves as a voting member of the CT Suicide Advisory Board and is an active participant in a number of organizations in Fairfield County committed to supporting students and families both in the community and at school.
